Entertainment Extra by Evelyn

Q. I feel Sandra Bergen is the most talented person on television today! I just only does she have looks, but she has brains. Could you please tell me if the star of "Murphy Brown" is married, and does she have any children? Palmira A.

A. Candice is married to French filmmaker Louis Malle and the couple have a 4-year-old daughter. In addition, the couple have two other children from Malle's previous marriage.

Q. Is it true that there has been a smashing feud between Alan Thicke and Kirk Cameron of "Growing Pains?" I have heard that Thicke is jealous of his younger costar who seems to get most of the headlines and attention. Cathy T.

A. There is no feud between the two stars of the ABC hit sitcom. In fact, Thicke is the first to admit that Kirk's appeal with the younger viewing audience has been instrumental in keeping "Growing Pains" a hit for as long as it has been.

Q. Could you please tell me whatever happened to Daniel Hugh Kelly who was so great with Brian Keith on "Hardcastle & McCormick?" And is it true that Daniel was once a very popular daytime soap star? Rachael V.

A. Kelly has been receiving rave reviews recently for his stunning performance in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," along with star Kathleen Turner on Broadway. Kelly is very fondly remembered by his daytime fans for his role of Frank Ryan on the critically acclaimed ABC soapie "Ryan's Hope."

Q. I've been watching a great series called "Sitcrazy" on reruns, and I can't believe this show couldn't make it. The star (Nick Mancuso) is a wonderful actor besides being very sexy, and I loved the stories. Is there a chance it'll come back? Maggie J.

A. "Stingray," and Mancuso never had a chance. Despite good ratings, the show couldn't make it. The star is not the best person to get most of the questions and attention. Cathy T.

Q. Please settle a small dispute. I say Robert Vaughn was an Emmy. Per "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." but a coworker says no way. She says if he won an Emmy, he wouldn't be doing those phony talk show commercials. Also how long was he on "U.N.C.L.E." Gloria F.

A. Vaughn won an Emmy for his work in the miniseries "Washington Behind Closed Doors." He starred in "U.N.C.L.E." for the full five years it was on. As for those so-called "infotainment" shows a lot of actors are doing them, John Ritter, Dennis Dow Hewitt, Ida Bobsworth, and others. And, of course, the money is very good.

Q. The cast member on "Head of the Class" named Rain Pryor — is she related to Richard Pryor? Shanae M.

A. Rain is, indeed, Richard Pryor's daughter.

Q. I was told there's something special about the name Rosie O'Neill on Sharon Gless' new series, 'The Trials of Rosie O'Neill,' and I would like to know what it is because that was a name in my own family. Thank you. Margaret R.

A. The name Rosie had been agreed upon when the character was first created. Gless took the last name, Neill, as a tribute to Dick Neill, the actor who played her father, Charley on "Agnes and Lacey."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by Charles King Cooper

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Write stories and originality mark your outlook now; you may be too important to get your ideas across to others. Downplay ego in your dealings. It's not that you should be cautious, but do keep your glands under wraps for now. Don't spend first quick flush with you-you.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Though you'll get along well enough with partners, things could get testy with a friend or acquaintance over money matters. Don't be stubborn. You're easily persuaded. Your ideas may just be ahead of the times now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20): It's a creative week where you excel more. It may be difficult to practice your kind person, as something gets your goat now. Impatience doesn't help your cause in romantics now. Investigate new options regarding real estate interests and home repairs.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22): Spur-of-the-moment fun activities will prevent a tense home situation from developing. Be free as the wind. It's a time to explore new career options with promising. Meanwhile try to avoid a squabble with a co-worker. Anger is not very good for your physical well being.

LEO (July 23 to August 21): Don't spoil an exciting chance for fun by arguing about money. The financial privileges of a child may be a concern now. When you're completely absorbed by an idea, you can take you're at your best now that it's downhill if your ego gets overly involved.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22): Welcome the chance to make new friends now and don't get easily over a real or imagined slight. Brush off controversy for happiness sake. What you want to accomplish can serve now is the but it may not be the right time to discuss them.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 23): Impulsive to your self now, you'll be better off with unexpected ers may meet with disappointment. Protect your good about yourself. Don't become pompous. Ethics feed from friends from and you'll soon or you're off to see them. Endless!

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 22): Mixed bag this week and after a few 11) Reveal your true colors. Don't feel a loved one time you've known. What you really need is some rest. Mixing business and pleasure could lead to some unwise commitments or promises.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21): Either, travel or entertaining guests could prove more costly than anticipated. You seem inspired about a career ending. Vow: You may be a trifle extravagant now. Getting out for good times is favored over home-based activities.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19): Some home decorating may be on your agenda now. Be careful of errors in bookkeeping or financial matters. Some decorating clogged, the gutters overflow, the gutter collapses, the paint and the wallpaper peels. Accomplishing any change is an unpleasant task, and getting the gutter to how you want it to be. Don't wave flow. I suggest that you call in many wild places grafted onto it. Some professionals who would have gutters. Fwell Free...or gutters survived for a month using them. Keeping the gutters clean and open and properly hung is more important. The gutter should be slightly lowered the back of the span is large, there should be a leader at each end of the gutter the gutter should be cross-

I am against putting gutter little screens in the gutters to keep the leaves out. What happens is that some wind gets between the screen and the gutter, and the screen becomes entangled making the task of cleaning that more difficult.

Use a garden hose on a strong run down the downspout. Turn of the water as you push the hose down until you see the water rush out from the bottom of the downspout. If the stream in the gutter becomes loose plug the holes with a piece of wood, then hammer the spikes back into the same hole.

Q. I have full wallpaper that I would like removed. However, the conventional wetpaper removal solutions will not penetrate the foil paper. What should I do? L.D.

There are two things that will facilitate the penetration of the removal solution through the foil. Professionals use a perforated roller that makes tiny holes in the paper allowing the solution to penetrate. Homeowners use coarse grit sand paper lightly rubbed in a circular motion just enough to scratch the surface. You should have no problem.

Paint & Household

by Bob D'Angelo

Q. I have "plaster in a roll" covering in my basement walls, and I would like to either replace it, or remove the texture finish. Which would be easiest? T. M.

A. Plaster in a roll is a product designed to cover cracks in walls. It's similar to a wallpaper covering with a plaster finish when applied. Many find don't become impervious. Either way, you have to remove the old finish before you can apply the new.

Q. I would suggest removing the plaster product. Simply compound over it with a product called "Plaster Weld" or a similar product. Then paint it. Remember that the water in the compound will dry and the wall will be porous. Prime and paint as if you were painting a drywall wall. Using a paint sprayer will speed up the process.

Q. The carpets and my homes are always dusty and dirty. What's the best advice to prevent dust? G.L.

A. Unless you're constantly maintained, the carpets collect dust and dirt. Vacuuming does harm than good. Vacuuming only grinds the dirt and dust down between the carpet fibers, where it can't be removed. Instead, you should use a carpet cleaning machine. Carpet cleaning machines are rented at most hardware stores. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions carefully.

Q. I have a "nice kid" in our neighborhood always had a party Halloween even and, of course, we ruffians had to be invited, or the "nice kid's" home would have suffered from spontaneous destruction. This is a disease which strikes the local enemy's house come Halloween Even. For the life of me, I could never understand why he always insisted on inviting girls. They only got in the way during the pie throwing contest, and ended up going home with tears in their pretty lil eyes. I figured parties was for boys only, and the wilder the better. (This outlook carried through to college with the possible exception that we had begun to admire members of the opposite sex.) Our little friend's mother kept insisting that the whole lot of us would end up in jail...or worse yet, to the Army. Her greatest anticipations were fully realized. Half went to the Army, and the other half to Jail!

We had a game in those days, which was played with a bucket of water, a piece of string, a slightly open door, and a strong pair of legs with which to run having all of these, we proceeded to place said bucket of water on slightly open door, with string held expectantly in one hand, while awaiting some unsuspecting user to come through that door. One special Halloween Eve, after I had pasted my exams making me a full fledged member of the gang, they informed me that I would be the "string." It was this particular time that an unusually fast a foot officer of the law, made his flat footed way through "the door," and alas, as fate would have it, I was apprehended by a thoroughly wet, and enraged cop. I didn't mind the terrible things he breathed in my ear, such as "I'm gonna put you in jail for a million years" with nothin' but bread 'n water". No, it was the shameful task of having to face my brother members of the gang. I had failed and the punishment was the worst to be dealt out in all my young years. I was banished from the group, and seen back to ringing doorbells with the smaller fry! It was not until some years later, when I was more mature, that they finally gave me another chance.

So heed the warning, all you youngun's, remember to have good clean fun, and don't top over your own feet.

SERIOUSLY, I'd like to warn you one thing...Don't soap car windows. The police will buy absolutely no pity on you fellas who insist on doing that. Remember, it is hard enough to stay alive in an automobile with all the windows clean, without anyone inviting disaster by soaping a car window. Many persons who drive to work in the early hours of the morning have come out of the house to find their windows practicely obliterated with soap marks. Being in a hurry, they don't have time to properly clean them. Thus, driving to work constitutes a hazard on the highways, by not having a good view of the road. Don't YOU be a partner in this type of crime. DON'T SOAP CAR WINDOWS. See ya' next week and bless ye all.-Herb Harris, October 14, 1953

Weekly HEALTH TIP

FRUIT vs. CANCER

Eating raw fruit tends to prevent oral and pharyngeal cancer, reports the National Cancer Institute.

People who average a 4 fruit servings a day have one-half the cancer risk of those eating less than one fruit serving daily.

Vitamin C, carotene, and fiber in raw fruit is helpful. Also, studies show that ellagic acid, found in most fruit, inhibits carcinogens.

HALLOWEEN seems to be the time of year during which every kid in the neighborhood gets together with all his buddies and starts putting their diabolical little heads together over dreams up more mischief than a litter terrier dog left alone at home. When I was a youngster, we did none of these things. We was agrad to find good clean fun in removing iron grates, locking windows and putting guns in doorbells. (We left the "soaping" to the junior high school crowd.) I particularly remember one year when I was unable to sit down for many weeks due to the exceptionally sharp eyesight of a farmer in whose field I happened to be caught. He "just happened" to have a load of buckshot in a rifle he "just happened" to have around! We meant no harm, we only wanted to get a few ears of corn to throw at each other.

A "nice kid" in our neighborhood always had a party Halloween even and, of course, we ruffians had to be invited, or the "nice kid's" home would have suffered from spontaneous destruction. This is a disease which strikes the local enemy's house come Halloween Even. For the life of me, I could never understand why he always insisted on inviting girls. Reflections on a Lifetime

TRAGEDY STRIKES

Now that we moved to Shiloh, what was my father going to do for a living? He tried a number of things, one of which was an automotive mechanic in a nearby garage. This was not his forte even though as a farmer he had plenty of experience keeping his tractors running and fixing the farm equipment in time he learned an independent trait and he delivery route which served us well during those desperation years to come. Consequently my brother and I were recruited to help deliver milk during the year and the ice in the summer. This I did for some eleven years but only during the summers while in college. My brother made it a lifelong occupation

Those were hard years for a young lad who had to get up at two or three in the morning most of the year and only during the toughest months in winter was the milk delivered in the afternoons. Elwood and I did that all through the school years seven days a week, every week and every month and every year. We would get up in the wee hours of the morning, do our job, come home for a quick breakfast and get ready for school. After school there was little or no time for play as we had to study before retiring at eight o'clock-if we had not fallen asleep before.

One Sunday morning in the Fall of 1928 when I was nine years old, I had just delivered some milk at the rear of an old brick home in Dover Pennsylvania, and as with most of the houses on those days, the sidewalks were made of large stones placed unevenly or at least they became that water after years of usage. The customer that morning had a large number of milk bottles to be picked up and at that time all the bottles were made of glass. Carrying the bottles in my arms and unable to use my flashlight because of the load, I hurried along the house on the sidewalk was one of the milk truck in front. You can guess the rest. I stumbled and fell, and in order to protect myself, I instinctly threw up my hands and left on broken glass. I knew something was wrong and ran to my father who had the foresight to use his dirty handerchief to tie off my arm between the wrist and elbow. You see I had cut my right wrist so badly that it severed the main artery and all the blood in that hand, including the two which control the thumb. By this time there was such a commotion in the neighborhood that many of our customers were awakened, and one of them talked to take me to the hospital. Naturally, my father accompanied us leaving a boy some to turn fourteen to finish the milk route alone. In those days each of us learned to drive the truck during those early morning hours and even though the police cautioned my father on many occasions to my knowledge we were never arrested

I remember vividly that trip to the hospital for I never lost consciousness nor had I any way to realize how serious the injury was. I recall distinctly stopping at our home in Shiloh three miles distant from the mishap while Dad rushed in to tell my aunt what had happened. In three more miles we arrived at the York hospital, the same one my mother had died in some months earlier, and since it was Sunday it took what seemed like hours to get a surgeon to the operating room. In the meantime the tendons in my arms had shrunk further up the arm which made the surgery much more complicated.

Deb's Country Corner

Hello Country Folks

October is here. Currently the countdown to Christmas has begun, as less in the stores October has one of my favorite holidays - Halloween! I could it still dress up and go out with my son trick or treating, and I love every minute of it!

I have heard all kinds of stories from the days when my mother went Halloweening. Trouble is, I can't repeat any of them here because it may give some of you ideas. One of the standard is involves a brown paper bag, fresh fertilizer material and a lit match. Enough said, right?

With the disappearance of the outside privy, there are a lot of frustrated Halloween tricksters out there. But there are still a few haymides going on and still someone volunteering their barn for a spooky Halloween party.

Remember some of the games we used to have at Halloween parties? I remember one where you pulled your chairs around in form a circle, then placed your hands in your lap. A large sheet was placed over your hands and the lights were dimmed. Someone started telling a spooky story about dismembering a body and then the "body parts" were passed to you under the sheet. I remember you would peel grapes to use as eyeballs and cooked spaghetti, cold and boiled together would form the brain. There was a whole lot of items and of course the dark room and a few girls screaming made all the difference.

My Sunday School class still has a Halloweiny party and I enjoy every minute of it. We usually go on a hayride by moonlight, and laugh just as much as we did when we were kids.

Michael and I made our scarecrows the day said too. We took a few old clothes stuffed them with straw and set them on lawn chairs. Their heads are carved jack-o-lanterns and a yard pair latex into a hat. It's something you can do with your kids, and you can both enjoy it.

The recipe for this week isn't a Halloween vegetable, but the long-awaited pie pumpkin for this year.

PUMPKIN BREAD

1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup shortening
3 eggs
1 1/3 cups cooked pumpkin
1 1/3 teaspoons vanilla
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
2 1/4 cups flour
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream sugar shortening together add eggs and vanilla. Blend well and add pumpkin. Sift all dry ingredients together and add to first mixture. Pour into two well greased bread pans. Bake for 45-50 minutes at 350 degrees

HOUSEHOLD HINT FOR THE WEEK

This if the season for church bake sales. If you're baking goodies to donate how about printing out the recipe of the items you're donating? Then make recipe card of the item either
